For On Base Care

Go to <http://75FSS.com> or <http://www.75thforcesupport.com/>

Click menu, then you can choose from these on base care programs:

Child Development Center (CDC): 801-777-6321/6223. For birth -5 years (if not in kinder yet.) Under Menu search Child Development Center, scroll down to Enrollment Information & Forms

Youth Programs: 801-777-2419- For childcare look for School Age Programs or Recreation. Look for Open Rec. Under Menu search Youth Programs, scroll to see what is available.

Family Child Care (FCC): 801-777-0695 - FCC licensed/affiliated providers are made up of providers that operate independent businesses. Hourly and part-time care is available by contacting the providers directly. Rates will vary. Providers are held to high standards that include twenty four hours of annual training, monthly home inspections and compliance with Air Force regulations. Each provider holds current First Aid, CPR, and food handlers certificates. Anyone who watches children for more than 10 hours per week (example: 3 kids X 4 hours each = 12 hours even when concurrent) from their home is required to be an FCC licensed/affiliated provider. We recommend that you DO NOT set up recurring or fulltime care with anyone living on base that is not an FCC licensed/affiliated provider as you risk your care being cut off at a moment's notice and the caregiver can lose his/her base housing privileges.

You can find more FCC information on the website above then under menu search Family Child Care. Provider lists can be found at the CDC's, A&FRC (bldg. 150) and 1st Sergeants.

For Off Base Care

Weber State University CCR&R: <http://programs.weber.edu/cac/>

Go to this site and click "Families" to look for resources such as childcare, fee assistance, preschool or other activities. Here are your choices of how to use this program:

1. Visit or call the agency for a one-on-one consultation. 801-626-7837 or toll free at 1-888-970-0101. The referral specialists will collect the information needed to create your personalized list. I recommend this for families that have children with special needs, so you can be certain they understand your criteria.
2. Submit your information via the referral request form (found on site.) The referral specialists will use the information you provide to supply a customized list of child care providers.
3. Search this database directly from this website: <http://careaboutchildcare.utah.gov/>. This website the profiles of childcare providers located throughout Utah. All of these caregivers are state licensed. If you don't find a provider that meets your needs try the first step listed above.

Sitter City: <http://www.sittercity.com/> (as of August 2015 Sitter City no longer offers free enrollment to military families). Sitter City offers a database of babysitters and nannies as well as housekeepers, tutors, dog watchers, etc. There are many filters to refine your search such as zip code, type of care desired, special needs and more. They also give information about the specific caregiver including whether they have a background check on file.

Care.com: <http://www.care.com/> they offer the same basic set up as Sitter City.

Other Options

Certified Teenage Babysitters- Hill AFB Youth Programs has a list of teenagers available for afterschool, date night, summertime care and more. Just stop by the Youth Center (Bldg 883) to pick up a current list.

Hill AFB Babysitter's Club is a closed Facebook page that you request to join. Parents post for a date night or a request a last-minute doctor appointment and people will offer to care for their kids. This encompasses people who want to care for kids in their home or your home, teenagers, adults, moms, dads, grandparents and more. Some request pay or trade services while others just want to get to know people who have kids with similar ages. Members of the Hill AFB Babysitter's Club live in many areas around the base, which may help you find someone who resides near you. Be sure you feel comfortable with anyone you plan to leave your child with. These providers may not be licensed and/or background checked. Also remember if you are trying to book someone living on base for recurring or fulltime care they will need to be an FCC licensed/affiliated provider through the base.

Family Connection Center: www.utahfcc.org/ The Family Connection Center offers crisis and respite child care, homeless prevention, food assistance, parent education and therapy. They have locations in Layton 801-771-4642 and Clearfield 801-773-0712

Preschools

Go to this site for the most up-to-date listing of Preschools in Weber, Davis and Morgan

Counties: <http://programs.weber.edu/cac/assets/preguide.pdf>. This document is well researched and very detailed. It has ideas on how to decide what you are looking for in a preschool as well as the Utah Pre-K Guidelines. With each preschool they tell you where it is, how to contact them, the ages they serve, the cost and a brief description of the program.

Funded Programs

AF EFMP Respite Care for Active Duty & Title 10 families with special needs children. This program offers those with children on EFMP considered 'Moderate to Severe' 12 hours of respite per month for the child with special needs AND their siblings! Respite time can be used to take a nap, go shopping, have dinner with your spouse or however you choose. Your PCM will make the decision if your situation meets the 'Moderate to Severe' criteria; don't assume your child will not qualify. To register for this contact the EFMP-FS Specialist at 801-586-2611

Give Parents a Break (GPAB) is funded by the Air Force Aid Society and applies if the military member is deployed, on an extended TDY or on a remote tour of duty. GPAB applies during family crises or emergency situations such as serious illnesses of immediate family members, deaths, extended illnesses of family members, births, and/or if a family has a child with special needs that can be supported by CDC/YP or in unique circumstances or hardships. To be referred for GPAB see your First Sergeant or A&FRC (bldg. 150, 801-777-4681)

PCS Childcare is intended to help relieve stress felt by Air Force families in the process of a PCS and/or retirement move. AFAS will pay up to 20 hours of child care (per child) in FCC licensed/affiliated homes. Child care is based on availability of certified or affiliated FCC providers. To receive your certificate and provider list go to the A&FRC (Bldg. 150, 801-777-4681)

Volunteer Childcare is meant to enhance and expand participation in the installation volunteer program by ensuring the availability and accessibility of child care for volunteers' children. Visit the Hill AFB A&FRC (Bldg 150) to see if you qualify.
